01 "There are only two things you can love in life: your husband and your wedding dress." This lovely phrase has been announced mnay time at I Do Bridal Courtur. Finding the perfect gown to say, "I do," in is one of the most exciting time in a young women's life. This past Saturday my co-workers and I had to honor to help a sweet young lady fin the dress she has been dreaming of since she girl. Standing by Catherine's side as she found the dress of her dreams was a rollar coaster of all sort of emotions, and we loved every second of it. Many of the dresse in the store were stunning on Catherine, but none compared to the one she walked away with. Check out the rest of these photos to see which one of these gowns Catherine chose to walk down the isle in.

02 Catherine steps out in the frist wedding dress she has ever tried on. She is plesently surised, but can we find something better?

03 Dress number two is just as stunning. We all put this lovely gown at the top of the list, but ther are still more to be tried on.

04 This third dress is very similar to dress number two, but there must have been a little something extra becuse Catherine can't seem to stop smiling!

Dreaming of Dresses

04 Catherin admires her beauty in the natural light. There's no telling what's going on in this bride-to-be's head.

05 Catherine says, "YES," to this beautiful Liancarlo gown. Her tears of joy show that there is no doubt Catherine has made the right decision.

06 Adding the veil to a dress makes the moment real. After finding a gorgeous veil, mom and Catherine are all smiles.

07 We couldn't be happier to share in Catheine's wedding dress experience with her family. Congradulations to the beautiful bride!

Photos by Kaitlyn Shemroske